United Way at Work in our Community

Open Your to a Senior

After a nasty fall last winter, Jane of Ross Township, age 65, was temporarily unable to use her right arm. Jane was able to handle most of her day-to-day activities independently but, with her arm in a cast and a sling, Jane couldn't drive to the grocery store or her physical therapy sessions. She needed a helping hand to get back to work and on the road again. Jane called Open Your Heart to a Senior for transportation and shopping assistance and was soon matched with Diane, a volunteer from North Hills Community Outreach's Faith in Action program, who drove to Jane to her therapy sessions in McCandless and occasional trips to the grocery store.

United Way of Allegheny County encourages collaboration among agencies for greater impact and efficiency. In the first six months, Family Services of Western PA and North Hills Community Outreach worked together to place 322 volunteers who provided 7,500 hours of time (6,264 instances of service) to 508 seniors. The collaboration is utilizing joint recruitment and training and a website to place volunteers with frail seniors or adults with disabilities in Allegheny County who need in-home assistance with chores and transportation. They are partnering with additional agencies in order to reach the goal of county-wide coverage.
